Introduction

DEFINITION OF HEALTHCARE ETHICS CONSULTATION

Healthcare ethics consultants are professionals who provide healthcare ethics consultation services. Healthcare ethics consultation can be divided into (a) clinical ethics consultation and (b) other ethics-related work (Figure 1) (ASBH, 2026).

Clinical ethics consultation is a service provided in response to a question (or questions) from a patient^a, family member^b, surrogate decision-maker^c, healthcare professional^d, administrator, or other involved party^e who seeks to resolve uncertainty or conflict regarding

^a The term patient is used broadly throughout this edition to include people receiving healthcare, residents of long-term care facilities, members of health plans, etc.

^b The term family member is used broadly throughout this edition to include any person with whom the patient has a close personal relationship. Such persons may include blood relatives; relatives through marriage, adoption, etc.; close friends and other loved ones; and anyone whom the patient considers to be part of their "family," however they define that term.

^c The term surrogate decision-maker is used throughout this edition to describe any person who is in the position of making choices on behalf of the patient. This may include someone holding a durable power of attorney for healthcare decisions, a court-appointed guardian, a legally designated agent, or any other person who is tasked with making choices for a patient who lacks the legal authority or cognitive capacity to make decisions for themselves.

^d The term healthcare professional is used throughout this edition as an umbrella category to refer to all those involved in patient care, including clinicians (i.e., physicians, psychologists, other independent licensed healthcare professionals), nurses, social workers, pharmacists, therapists, chaplains, nurses' aides, technicians, and others.

^e Involved party is defined as patients, family members, surrogate decision-makers, healthcare professionals involved in the specific case, administrators, and any other persons involved in it, who have impact on, or who have a vested interest in the care of the patient.

value-laden^f concerns that emerge in the care of a specific patient. An ethics consultation service is responsible for providing clinical ethics consultations at healthcare facilities.

Healthcare ethics consultations take place in a variety of settings including academic medical centers, ambulatory care facilities, behavioral health facilities, community hospitals, community hospitals affiliated with a medical school, government facilities, health systems, home care, hospice, and long-term care.

Potential roles include administrator, associate professor, assistant professor, clinical ethicist, consultant, department director, director, lecturer, medical director, professor, and researcher.

PATH TO CERTIFICATION

The American Society for Bioethics and Humanities (ASBH) is a nonprofit organization of healthcare professionals, teachers, consultants, and others with an interest in clinical and academic bioethics and the health-related humanities.

ASBH was founded in January 1998 through the consolidation of three existing associations in the field: the Society for Health and Human Values (SHHV), the Society for Bioethics Consultation (SBC), and the American Association of Bioethics (AAB). The purpose of ASBH is to promote the exchange of ideas and foster multidisciplinary, interdisciplinary, and interprofessional scholarship, research, teaching, policy development, professional development, and collegiality among people engaged in clinical and academic bioethics and the health-related humanities.

As the practice of healthcare ethics consultation has grown, ASBH has identified the need to develop recognized standards to promote professionalism and excellence within the specialty. Certification is a means by which an individual may demonstrate his or her commitment to professionalism and document his or her qualifications, skill, and knowledge in providing healthcare ethics consultation services to patients and families who seek to resolve uncertainty or conflict regarding value-laden concerns that emerge in health care.

ABOUT THE CERTIFICATION PROGRAM

Professional certification is a voluntary process by which an individual's performance is evaluated against predetermined standards for knowledge, skills, and/or competencies. Participants who demonstrate that they meet the standards by successfully completing the assessment process are granted a time-limited credential. To retain the credential, certificants must maintain continued competence. The credential awarded by the certification program provider denotes that the participant possesses specialized knowledge, skills, or competencies. (Institute of Credentialing Excellence, 2010)

The Healthcare Ethics Consultant-Certified (HEC-C) program is administered by the Healthcare Ethics Consultant (HCEC) Certification Commission ("the Commission"). Formed in 2017, the Commission is a functionally autonomous component of the American Society for Bioethics and Humanities (ASBH). The purpose of the certification program is to promote excellence and professionalism within the field of healthcare ethics consultation by documenting individual performance as measured against a predetermined level of knowledge and skill. The ^f Regarding value, we realize that there are values embedded in many different domains (e.g., law, morals, professional practices, various communities, individual conceptions of the good). We use value as a general term to capture the various formative dimensions of issues that emerge in healthcare. Value uncertainty or conflict often arises because of competing values from these different domains (e.g., judgements about "best" treatment often differ depending on whether medical values or individual patient values are being considered).

Commission establishes eligibility requirements for the HEC-C examination and all other policies for the certification program.

The Commission may be contacted at:

1061 American Lane
Suite 310
Schaumburg, IL 60173-4973
cert@asbh.org

The Commission is made up of six members representing diverse backgrounds, practice setting, and training/education in the field of healthcare ethics consultation and includes one non-consultant member representing the public.

The Commission contracted with Meazure Learning to develop the HEC-C examination. Meazure Learning is a full-service testing company providing licensure, certification, and specialty examinations, including practical and written simulation tests, for associations, state boards, government agencies, and corporations. Meazure Learning works with the Commission to develop, administer, and score the HEC-C examination. Candidates communicate with Meazure Learning to schedule a date to take the HEC-C examination.

The certification program is an element in the professional structure of healthcare ethics consultation, along with the Code of Conduct and the Core Competencies among other elements, to help assess, assure, and improve the quality of healthcare ethics consultation. All of these elements ideally support each other. The certification process aims to promote excellence and professionalism within the field of healthcare ethics consultation. Specifically, the certification process assesses individual performance as measured against a predetermined standard of knowledge and skill. To this end, the Commission, in conjunction with testing experts and experienced healthcare ethics consultants, have developed a legally defensible, reliable, and valid certification examination.

VALUE OF CERTIFICATION

HEC-C program validates a candidate's knowledge and skills in assessing factual information about medical ethics concerns, analyzing the ethical questions at hand to resolve issues and conflicts, using consistent processes that adhere to healthcare ethics competencies, and evaluating the outcomes and implications of healthcare ethics consultations.

Using thorough and standardized evaluation criteria, the HEC-C credential is a credible endorsement of a candidate's core knowledge and skills in clinical healthcare ethics consultation. The certification process is led by an expert commission of HECs and aims to further legitimize the essential work of the healthcare ethics consultant.

The HEC-C credential affirms an individual's role as an essential patient care provider with unique experience and acquired skill at addressing ethical issues for patients and their families.

Patients and their families, as well as other healthcare professionals, rely on the healthcare ethics consultant expertise to resolve difficult ethical concerns that arise during treatment. The HEC-C credential recognizes an individual's experience in patient and family advocacy by emphasizing high standards of practice within an institution and in the healthcare ethics consultation field.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Candidates for the HEC-C examination must meet the following eligibility criteria at the time of application:

- a minimum of a Bachelor's Degree; and
- 400 hours of clinical ethics experience, related to the major domains of the content outline, within the previous 4 years.

Although all healthcare professionals engage in ethical decision making, healthcare ethics consultation is a distinct role. For purposes of HEC-C certification, healthcare ethics experience is defined as healthcare ethics consultation work, the vast majority of which is performed in the role of a designated healthcare ethics consultant, which is related to the major domain areas of the HEC-C examination content outline. Only active conduct of healthcare ethics consultation work is eligible. Hours spent learning or observing the work of a healthcare ethics consultant do not qualify.

The Commission accepts eligible candidates regardless of age, sex, race, religion, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, or national origin. All decisions within the scope of the Commission's responsibilities and authority are made without regard to age, sex, race, religion, marital status, sexual orientation, disability, or national origin.

EXAMINATION FEES

All fees are subject to change and current exam and late fees are posted at www.asbh.org and <https://heccertification.org/application>. ASBH members are eligible for a reduced examination fee. Please note: ASBH membership must be current at the time of application in order to receive the reduced examination fee for ASBH members. ASBH membership is not required to take the HEC-C examination.

To prevent this from occurring, please add candidatesupport@measurelearning.com to your list of acceptable addresses and contact cert@asbh.org if you do not receive the NTS within the anticipated timeframe.

6. When you receive the notice to schedule an examination date, please select a date for the examination. Candidates will have a choice of

- In-person at a local testing center; or
- At home using a personal computer with live remote proctoring

REMOTE PROCTORING

Physical requirements

Before the start of the examination, you will be asked to scan the room with your webcam to show that you are alone and the area around you is clear. The webcam and microphone must remain on for the duration of the examination. You should make arrangements to be in a private, quiet area and remain uninterrupted throughout the examination. (If another person enters the area or there appears to be a disruption or other irregularity, the examination will end.)

Please Note: Participants should allow up to 20 minutes for remote proctoring setup and ensure they have a basic familiarity with adjusting computer settings

Technical requirements

When you select remote proctoring, you will have the option of running a system check to confirm your computer meets these technical requirements. You may also check your system's readiness at <https://prod.examity.com/systemcheck/check.aspx>.

Browser:

- Browsers supported are Microsoft Internet Explorer (version 11), and the latest available versions of Microsoft Edge, Mozilla Firefox, Safari, or Google Chrome
- Please disable any pop-up blockers
- Please enable JavaScript

Equipment:

- Desktop or laptop computer (tablets, smartphone, and Chromebooks are not supported)
 - PC users must have a minimum operating system of Windows 10. Windows 8.1 and below will not be supported by the exam system.
- Built-in or external webcam
- Built-in or external microphone
- Built-in or external speakers

Internet: An upload or download speed of 2Mbps

How does live remote proctoring work?

Live remote proctoring allows you to connect to and interact with a live proctor via your computer's webcam and microphone. The examination is given using the same platform as an in-person testing center and the security requirements are the same. The proctor will complete the "check in" and help you access the examination and will monitor you throughout the examination—just like an in-person testing center. The difference is you will be in your own home using your computer or laptop.

AUDITS

In order to maintain the integrity of the program and verify the accuracy of the information submitted by candidates, a percentage of applications during each testing window will be randomly selected for audit. The Commission may select additional applications for audit at its discretion.

If the audit is not completed prior to the examination date, the candidate will be permitted to take the examination; however, the results will be voided if the candidate does not complete or fails the audit.

If a candidate fails the audit, fails to respond satisfactorily to the receipt of the audit notification, or refuses to submit to an audit, he or she will forfeit all fees. If the candidate applies for the examination in the future, the candidate must complete the audit prior to taking the examination.

If selected for audit, you will be notified by email and given 15 days from the receipt of the email to respond. If you do not respond to the email, staff will contact you via a traceable delivery service. Staff will make three attempts at contact before the audit is considered failed.

Auditees will be asked to provide an official transcript, including the degree awarded. Concurrently, staff will contact the auditee's supervisor or other colleague to affirm that the candidate has completed a minimum of 400 hours of healthcare ethics consultation within the previous four years.

REASONABLE ACCOMMODATIONS

The Commission complies with the provisions of the Americans and Disabilities Act (42 U.S.C. §12101 et seq.) and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. §2000e et seq.) in providing reasonable accommodation to take the exam to individuals who need them. Reasonable accommodations provide candidates with disabilities a fair and equal opportunity to demonstrate their knowledge and skill in the essential functions being measured by the examination. Reasonable accommodations are approved or denied based upon the individual's specific request, disability, documentation submitted, and appropriateness of the request.

Accommodations may include but are not limited to: additional time, private room, a reader, use of compensatory equipment, and untimed breaks. Other requested accommodations may be provided with submission of appropriate supporting documents from qualified practitioners. The testing modality (e.g., in-person at a testing center or remote proctoring) may influence the accommodations provided, including presenting the examination in multiple secure sections to allow breaks during remote proctoring. In no case will the granted accommodation(s) alter the fundamental nature of the examination, provide an unfair advantage to the individual over other candidates, or result in an undue burden to the Commission.

If the candidate requests accommodation(s) not supported by the original documentation, then additional documentation from a qualified professional is required.

If a candidate with accommodations does not achieve a passing score and requires accommodations when retesting (as eligible), the candidate must request accommodations and provide up-to-date supporting documentation for each retest.

Requests for accommodation with supporting documentation must be received by the Commission no less than 45 days prior to the testing date. Supporting documentation may include 1) a letter (on the professional's letterhead) from an appropriate licensed professional or certified specialist who diagnosed the disability and is recommending reasonable accommodations; 2) evidence of receiving accommodations during school on the school's letterhead; or 3) an individualized education plan (IEP). The confidentiality of all documentation submitted by the candidate is protected. The documentation must include the candidate's name and address; the diagnosis of the disability; and specific recommendations for accommodation.

All requests will be reviewed by Commission staff in consultation with testing company staff and other appropriate parties, who will determine whether to approve or deny the request. The candidate will be notified of the decision and approval of the reasonable accommodation will be forwarded to the testing company. The testing company will work directly with the candidate in making the arrangements. The Commission is responsible for expenses related to the provision of reasonable accommodations.

Examination Scheduling

HOW TO SCHEDULE THE EXAMINATION

The examination scheduling process will begin approximately 45 days prior to the start of the examination window. A notice to schedule the examination will be sent to the primary email address on file with ASBH from candidatesupport@meazurelearning.com. It is very important that you check your email for the notice. This notice will contain a link to the scheduling website as well as a username and password. At this site, you will have the option to select a time and date for in-person testing center or live remote proctoring.

IN-PERSON TESTING

If you select in-person testing, you must submit your scheduling request at least 2 calendar days prior to your preferred test date. You will receive a confirmation email from Meazure Learning with the date, time, location, and other details. Be sure to save that email and carefully follow the instructions. Be sure you read all the instructions and save both emails so you can access the examination at the appropriate time.

It is your responsibility to schedule an examination date. Once you submit your scheduling request, you will receive a confirmation notice within 48 hours. It is your responsibility to call Meazure Learning at 919.572.6880 or email candidatesupport@meazurelearning.com if you do not receive the Notice to Schedule email for your examination.

Once you submit a complete application, you should schedule the examination for the next available testing window. If you submit an application but find that you are unable to schedule an examination date during the next available testing window, you may transfer the application to the following testing window. Please note: the application may be transferred only once to the next testing window. If you do not take the examination during the next available testing window, your application will be closed and the examination fee will be forfeited. Candidates must then update and resubmit all application materials and examination payment if they choose to pursue certification.

After the Examination

EXAMINATION SCORING

Examination scores will be available approximately six weeks after the exam window. You will receive an email from Measure Learning with instructions on how to access the score report portal.

Your score report will indicate whether you passed or failed the examination. Passing or failing is based on the number of items you answered correctly, and it is reported as a scaled score indicated on your score report. A scaled score of 500 is needed to pass the HEC-C examination.

Score reports will provide information about subscore areas. Subscores represent content from specific areas of the content outline, and these scores are helpful for self-assessment.

For each section listed on the score report, a subscore is calculated as the number of questions answered correctly. There is no penalty for guessing, and each incorrect or omitted answer is counted as one incorrect response. The total possible number of answers for each section is listed on the score report.

The cut score or passing point used in this examination is determined by a criterion-referenced approach called the Angoff Modified Technique. This technique is currently considered one of the most defensible criterion-referenced methods available for setting passing points. It relies on the pooled judgments of content experts. For example, in this approach, a group of experts is asked to judge each item on the test. The criterion used to judge each item is formed into a question: "What is the probability that a minimally competent candidate will answer this item correctly?" This question prompts the judges to consider a group of minimally competent candidates and what proportion of that group will answer each item correctly.

The average of the proportions, or probabilities, is multiplied by the total number of items on the test. The result then represents the score indicating minimal competence. The final passing score for the examination is based on this pooled judgment and includes a statistical adjustment for measurement error.

SCALED SCORES

Because of the need for security, there are multiple forms of the examination, each containing a different combination of questions. The passing standard cannot be set as a specific raw score, or number of questions answered correctly, because some of these forms may be slightly easier or more difficult than others. Therefore, requiring the same raw score to pass the different forms would not be fair to all examinees. A statistical procedure called equating is used to adjust for any differences in the level of difficulty among examination forms.

Once the examination forms have been equated, a procedure called scaling is used to convert the actual number of correct answers, or raw scores, to a uniform scale. These converted scores are called scaled scores.

DECISION TIMELINE

Candidates can refer to <https://heccertification.org/application> for information about when and how final certification decisions will be made available.

Examination Information

EXAMINATION FORMAT

The HEC-C examination is in English. It is a multiple-choice examination consisting of stand-alone questions and scenarios with related questions. The examination is administered electronically on a computer; however, no specific knowledge of computers and/or typing is required. You will have three (3) hours to complete the examination. The certification examination consists of 100 scored, multiple-choice questions and 10 multiple choice unscored questions for a total of 110 questions.

The unscored questions are not counted in the scoring of the examination. They are distributed among the other scored questions and will be used for statistical purposes only. Since the unscored questions are similar to the scored questions on the examination and since you will not know which questions are scored and which are not, you should answer all examination questions.

It is advisable to answer first those questions that are easy for you, skipping those questions that are more difficult and to which you can return later to give more thought. You should try to answer all the questions; there is no penalty for guessing.

EXAMINATION DEVELOPMENT

The development of a valid, written, multiple-choice examination for the HEC-C program began with a clear and concise definition of the knowledge, skills, and abilities needed for competent performance. Using interviews, surveys, observation, and group discussions, the Commission worked with healthcare ethics consultants to delineate critical job components. The knowledge and skill bases for the questions on the HEC-C examination were derived from the actual practice of healthcare ethics consultants as outlined in the HEC-C role delineation study.

The results of the role delineation study were used to develop the content outline for the examination. The content outline serves as a guide to what candidates can expect to see on the examination and is an invaluable resource in preparing for the examination. The content is divided into four domains: assessment; analysis; process; and evaluation and quality improvement, with supporting tasks for each. The role delineation study also identified 63 “knowledge statements” that are included as part of the content outline and represent foundational knowledge that will be tested in the examination. Each examination question will link back to a task and knowledge statement included in the content outline. The distribution of questions across the four domains is indicated by the percentage after each heading.
